DANGERS OF PRESCRIPTION PAIN MEDICATION

- Causes more death than car accidents (over 37,000)
- Considered "safe" especially by teens because they were prescribed and are legal.
- Gives a false sense of euphoria, which is temporary but can quickly lead to addiction.
- Withdraw symptoms are not pleasant (insomnia, leg spasms, vomiting, diarrhea, cold spasms, etc)
- Over prescribed (an estimated 90-percent of people with chronic pain are prescribed opioids, medication specifically designed for short-term solutions, even despite evidence indicating that non-drug treatments may provide relief with less risk)
- Digestive shut down - over time they slow the bowel causing constipation, bloating or nausea and can lead to narcotic bowel syndrome.

There is overwhelming evidence that natural treatments are effective and safe. So why are they less prevalent? Natural treatments take time and effort, while drugs do not.

TIPS FOR WEANING OFF PAIN MEDS:

Increase your water intake. Drink at least 4 liters of water a day with grapefruit and lemon essential oil.

Replace the habit. Just quitting can be difficult. Try a new healthy habit every time your body wants a quick fix. For example, fill your diffuser and take 10 deep breaths. Do 10 pushups. Take a walk and get fresh air. Drink a glass of water. Over time, you can form new neuropathways which means we can retrain our brain.

Take LLV and additional supplements to support your body naturally. This will help alleviate your symptoms while detoxing.

Surround yourself with support. Changing your environment is important. Do the people around you lift you up or bring you down?
